SUMMARY

Motivated professional with 20+ years management/supervisor experience. Earning promotions to such posts in nearly every position I've held since I was 17 years old. I was able to make such accomplishments by valuing a second-to-none work ethic. A dedication to the job and by earning the respect of my superiors and peers by being a leader. I accomplished this by leading by example. Doing the difficult and decidedly unglamorous tasks required by the job. These skills were taught to me by my father (a drill sergeant) and first employer (a retired Navy Chef) then built on and cemented with experience. These skills, married to my personality and added to my interests, hobbies and crafts, have culminated in a perfect passion for computer programming and web design.
